

News Release: NL Pharmacy Teams Playing a Critical Role in COVID-19 Response

January 6, 2022 Pharmacy teams in Newfoundland and Labrador have been at the forefront of the COVID-19 pandemic from the beginning and continue to go above and beyond to serve the residents of the province amidst the most challenging circumstances. The Pharmacists' Association of Newfoundland and Labrador is thanking all pharmacy professionals across the province for their continued role in the response to COVID-19.

“Since pharmacists began administering COVID-19 vaccines in June 2021, they have delivered nearly 102,000 doses of COVID-19 vaccine, including primary series and booster shots, to residents of the province,” said Janice Audeau, PANL President and a community pharmacist in Corner Brook. “They have done this while continuing to provide flu shots (@73,800) and other vaccinations, medications, and a myriad of other critical healthcare services. Throughout the pandemic, pharmacy services have always remained in-person, often putting their own health and safety at risk. The dedication of our pharmacy teams should not go unnoticed, and our Association offers sincere thanks to each and every one of our pharmacy professionals in all practice areas.”
